Salvos Stores Calls for Furniture and Bric-a-Brac Donations

With today's hectic lifestyles, keeping the home neat and tidy can be a challenge. An easy way to de-clutter is to donate unwanted things to retailers with a cause such as Salvos Stores. Currently, Salvos Stores is low on furniture and bric-a-brac donations to sell to the public. So, if the phrase 'I might use it one day' sounds familiar, it's time to donate to your local Salvos Stores.

Tough economic times have resulted in people keeping items for longer. In addition, shoppers are looking for cost effective options for furnishing their homes, which is why bric-a-brac and furniture sells quickly at charities such as Salvos Stores.

Salvos Stores is calling on the Australian public to get into the spirit of Spring and clean out their garages, sheds, attics and homes. Salvos Stores recycles goods every day, by taking unwanted items and selling them to thousands of shoppers who frequently scour Salvos Stores for their next treasure. All funds raised at Salvos Stores goes towards supporting The Salvation Army community programs. Therefore, shopping and donating is a win for the environment and the community.

Salvos Stores is making it easy for people to Spring clean this September. Consumers can donate at any store during opening hours or call 13 Salvos (13 72 58) to organise a free home collection.

With more and more people looking for sustainable shopping options to lighten their carbon footprint, Salvos Stores is the best alternative. By donating to Salvos Stores consumers are extending the life cycle of unwanted goods through a new owner. It also prevents the purchase of a new item which uses significant amounts of resources and energy to create. Second hand shopping prevents thousands of tonnes of goods ending up in landfill every year.

Salvos Stores Southern Territory operates 210 retail stores in Western Australia, South Australia, Victoria, Tasmania and Northern Territory. Salvos Stores operate as a fully functioning retail business, recycling pre loved goods and relying heavily on the generosity of the public. Overall Salvos Stores operates as a thriving business with the added benefit of contributing positively to the excellent work of The Salvation Army.
